

Unique Roadshow - The Wedding Pathway

DJ arrives at the venue.

The DJ, should allow an hour to set up disco. It would help the DJ, if a selected part of the venue is allocated for his equipment.

Once the equipment is set up, the music will begin. The music at the beginning will be selected for easy listening, as the wedding party will consist of friends and family that have not seen each other for a number of years. The music will be at a nice, but sensible level.

About 8.00pm / 8.30pm the evening guests will arrive, now the music will be turned up to the next level. The DJ will introduce himself and welcome the family and guests to the celebration.

At 9.00pm the party music will begin and guests will be invited onto the dance floor, if they have not already done so.

At 9.30pm the evening buffets are normally served, the music at this point will be turned down into background music, whilst the family and guests enjoy the buffet.

10.00pm the wedding couple will be invited to take to the dance floor, where they will dance their traditional chosen slow song.

Once the chosen song has been played the DJ will invite other members of the family to take to the dance floor and join the wedding couple

PARTY TIME!!

After the slow songs, the party begins. The DJ will play the largest party tunes from the 60's, 70's, 80's, 90's and current hits.
